

Map India 2010

19 - 21 January at Epicentre, Apparel House, Gurgaon, India

Cloud Computer and It's Potential Impact on Geospatial Solutions in India

kevin challen

Practice Manager

Infotech, India

challen@infotech-enterprises.com

Abstract:

The advent of cloud computer is starting to impact the way we see computing and internet, but within the GIS Community is almost ignored since only a few niche vendors are considering this form of computing. This paper looks at the benefits of deploying GIS solution based on cloud computing principles, and explores how the unique requirements of Indian market could significantly benefit both consumers and developers of GIS.